FLOWER ARRANGING 101
Sunday, September 27
5:00pm
Youth Pod

Have you ever wondered how those beautiful arrangements we see in worship services and in our vestibule on Sunday mornings are put together? Have you ever wondered if you too, might be able to arrange elements from the beauty of God's creation, into an aesthetically pleasing grouping that would aid worshippers in their worship of God? Have you ever wished for guidance in even learning to arrange flowers for your own home? Have you ever considered serving on the Flower Workgroup, but wondered how they do their work? On Sunday, September 27, a simple flower-arranging workshop will be offered in the youth pod beginning at 5:00pm.

There will be several demonstrations and an opportunity for some hands-on learning as well! To help us with the cost of this workshop, we ask participants to sign up for the workshop by Sunday, September 20, and submit a materials fee of $15 with your sign-up.

When you come to Flower Arranging 101, you will want to bring with you: a container (and liner if the container is not water-tight), clippers or a pocketknife, and a watered bucket of any greenery or flowers from your yard that may assist us in preparing arrangements and help others to know what is readily available in our own yards!

At the event, we will try to compile a list of the flowers and greenery available for cutting from the yards of one another! In this way, if you want to help with flowers for worship, you may know whom to contact about cutting materials to be used in your arrangement! So you may also want to bring with you a list of perennials (and the approximate time of year they bloom) that you have planted and would be willing to share with others.

Old Sewing Machines Needed!

Learning to sew...

a new hobby for those looking for projects
a confidence builder for those out of work a provision of clothing or curtains for a bare window for a family in need the addition of tangible employment skills to increase one's ability to work

In the coming weeks, a sewing class will be offered to teach the basics of sewing and using a sewing machine for all who are interested. Dozens of fabrics have already been donated by community members at a local shop and willing hands and hearts are ready to learn-- we just need the sewing machines! If you or someone you know has a working machine to donate and/or lend to a beginner, please email Sarah Bush at sarah@fredericksburgbaptistchurch.org. If you are an experienced seamstress or just enjoy sewing yourself and would like to help teach, please contact Sarah, as well.
